

THE WINES OF LEBANON FROM THE LAST SUPPER TO YOUR TABLE

Blessed with 300 days of sunshine a year and a combination of silt and clay soil, ideal conditions for grape vineyards, Lebanon became the original producer of wine. The wine for the Last Supper came from a vineyard in Lebanon which is still in production.

In 64 BC when Pompeii conquered the area, the soldiers of the Roman Empire discovered the wines of Lebanon. The soldiers brought the wine back to Italy where the reception was so enthusiastic the emperor commissioned the building of a grand temple complex that includes the largest temple ever built. The temple to Bacchus the God of Wine and the imposing remains of the temple to Jupiter are the most popular tourist attractions in Lebanon today. If this wine history persuades you to order a Lebanese wine from our selection, we hope you enjoy it as others have throughout the world for thousands of years.
